1. OEKO-TEX® Standards

The results of the joint research and development of the OEKO-TEX® Testing Institutes are the OEKO-TEX® Standards. The OEKO-TEX® Standards are publicly available on the internet at <https://www.oeko-tex.com/en/our-standards>.

2. OEKO-TEX® Testing Institutes

All institutes and companies with which OEKO-TEX® concludes or has concluded OEKO-TEX® Agreements are OEKO-TEX® Testing Institutes. OEKO-TEX® consists of 17 independent research and testing institutes in the field of textile and leather ecology in Europe and Japan with contact offices in more than 100 countries. All our Testing Institutes can be found at: <https://www.oeko-tex.com/en/about-us/oeko-tex-worldwide>.

The customers are free in their choice of the respective OEKO-TEX® Testing Institute.

3. OEKO-TEX® Services

The OEKO-TEX Service GmbH (OEKO-TEX®) offers companies various certifications and services to have their products tested by independently approved Testing Institutes and to optimise their production conditions and supply chain with a view to greater sustainability. The focus of its activities is on testing, auditing, certification and licensing in accordance with the OEKO-TEX® Standards.

4. Pricing

The OEKO-TEX® Testing Institutes are entitled to offer the OEKO-TEX® Services. In the provision of the OEKO-TEX® Services the specifications of the OEKO-TEX® documents are compulsory.

The cost of certification includes administrative fees, audit fees and testing fees of the Testing Institutes, as well as the licence fee of the OEKO-TEX Service GmbH.

Administrative fees are generated by the effort of Testing Institutes to process the application. Audit fees cover the costs for checking production processes and quality assurance onsite including further expenditures necessary for the audit. Testing fees are costs that arise to cover testing activities including for example personnel and material costs.

The Institute independently sets the prices for the OEKO-TEX® Services for its customers. OEKO-TEX® determines the licence fee, which is raised to use the corresponding trademark. The customers are free in their choice of the respective OEKO-TEX® Institute. OEKO-TEX® receives the licence fee from the Institute for each certificate issued by the Institute.

Invoicing is made monthly. The fees are payable net 30 days without deduction.

5. Active Chemical Products (ACP)

OEKO-TEX® assesses ACPs. They must undergo a toxicological assessment by two independent toxicologists. The toxicological assessment looks at the theoretical toxicity of the product but is not tested in a laboratory.

If an ACP wishes to be OEKO-TEX® certified and to use an OEKO-TEX® trademark, they must undergo OEKO-TEX® ECO PASSPORT certification.

OEKO-TEX® receives fees for the toxicological testing of ACPs and for their inclusion in the OEKO-TEX® list of accepted active chemical products.

6. Other Revenues of OEKO-TEX®

OEKO-TEX® does not receive payments from any interest groups and has no other sources of income.
